

November 25, 2006

Rwanda Breaks Off Diplomatic Ties With France

By Reuters

Rwanda broke off diplomatic ties with France, angry at a French judge's call for President Paul Kagame to face trial over the 1994 downing of a plane that killed Rwanda's leader and unleashed a genocide. Mr. Kagame, a Tutsi, has long accused France of training and arming Hutu militias who were the main force behind the slaughter. France denies the charges.

Copyright 2006
The New York Times Company